Common Wine Grapes

Cabernet Sauvignon

Red Grape: Bold, usually drier flavors and a dark color

Merlot

Red Grape: Typically dry, though considered softer when compared to Cabernet Sauvignon

Pinot Noir

Red Grape: Light in color, with an unmistakable aroma of herbs and delicate cherry flavor

Chardonnay

White Grape: One of the most common grapes the world. Can be soft and buttery or crisp and acidic

Pinot Grigio

White Grape: Mostly light bodied with a zestful acidity. A refreshing warm weather wine

Riesling

White Grape: Normally thought of as a sweeter flavor. Can also produce some delicate floral wine
